

In the past few months I have been fortunate enough to have a Northern student participating in an internship with me, at Lakeview. One of the projects she has undertaken is to create "The Lakeview Link" to share in each Communicator. In future issues there will be a section of the Communicator dedicated to an idea, or suggestion of how to "Link" into your child's education regarding social situations, academics, or physical interactions. I hope you find them interesting and helpful in making those connections. Here is the first of many more suggestions. Enjoy!

Mrs. Peterson, Principal

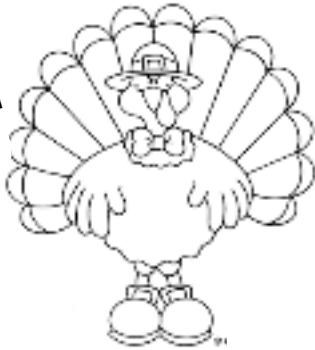

Encourage your student to appreciate effort as much as success. It is important to celebrate success, but also important to celebrate large amounts of effort; therefore, it may be more important to celebrate the two hours of studying for the social studies test rather than the grade itself.

We celebrate our Miner Traits here at Lakeview School: Respect, Responsibility, and Remembering Safety! Throughout the next few days, leading to our Thanksgiving holiday, many classrooms will also be encouraged to think about the things in life that they are thankful for. We are asking them to REFLECT! So often, we encourage our children to reflect on something they've done incorrectly, in an effort to recognize their mistake. This is an important step in learning self-discipline and hopefully, as a result of such reflection, the same mistake will not happen again. We can also, however, teach our children to REFLECT on what they've done WELL and how GOOD it feels to make positive choices! Self-reflection allows for personal growth, but for many students, this skill needs to be taught! We encourage you, during this holiday season and always, to promote self-reflection and we will do the same here at Lakeview!

Happy Thanksgiving & Happy Reflecting!
